INSTRUCTIONS

1. Insert the rod into the Jewel Loom.
2. Using approximately eight feet of 22 gauge Artistic Wire, or working directly from the spool, wrap the Jewel Loom with six warps, skipping five grooves between the warps.
3. Remove the rod from the loom.
4. Cut five feet of Wildfire and thread the end onto a hard beading needle.
5. Starting on the left side of the loom, secure the Wildfire to the warps with a simple tabby weave back and forth, once each direction, across the warps.
6. Bring the needle under all the warps out to the right side of the loom. Pick up five Czech glass beads and slide them to the end of the thread.
7. With a finger, press the beads up between the warps, one bead in each space.
8. Run the needle from right to left going through the beads and on top of the warps.
9. Pull the thread to straighten the row.
10. Pass the needle back under the warps and pick up five Czech glass beads, repeating the steps until you have a pendant base that is eight rows long.
11. Using the needle and Wildfire, create a half hitch knot on the outer warp on the pendant.
12. Use your needle and thread to reinforce the pendant and tie off the end with another half hitch knot.
13. Pull out the tabby weave at the top and sew in your end.
14. Using the cutter tool, cut the wires at the back buttons of the loom to remove the pendant from the loom.
15. On the bottom of the pendant, create three wrapped loops with the warps and Czech glass beads.
16. On the top of the pendant, create two wrapped loops on the outer corners and roll the inner warp wires into spirals and tuck them to the back of the pendant.
17. Thread a Czech glass bead onto a head pin. Create a wrapped loop.
18. Repeat this until you have created a total of 6 beaded links.
19. Using chain nose pliers, open a jump ring and attach thread two of the bead links onto a jump ring and attach the jump ring to one of the wrapped loops on the bottom of the pendant.
20. Repeat until you have added all the beads to the bottom of the pendant.
21. Using chain nose pliers, attach jump rings and chain pieces to the top of the pendant and finish by adding jump rings and a clasp to the opposite ends of the chain pieces.
